DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the "discontinuous external phase element" must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

Claim 15 is objected to because of the following informalities: the use of "may be" implies uncertainty of the limitation. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is unclear in the claim language as to what is meant by "discontinuous phase element".

Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is unclear in the claim language the reference made to the "internal element".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5,7-12,14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fink (PN 5,283,796).

In figure 10 Fink illustrates a laser system having two reflectors (111,133) forming a resonator where mirror 111 is an output mirror, a gain medium (51) between the mirrors and a phase plate (27) between the mirrors for tuning the modes of the resonator.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Komine (PN 5,400,173).

The conversion of a linear resonator into a ring resonator is commonly well known in the laser art, as shown in figures 3 and 4 of Komine.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fink (PN 5,283,796) in view of Casperson (Laser Focus World, May 1994).

In figure 10 Fink illustrates a laser system having two reflectors (111,133) forming a resonator where mirror 111 is an output mirror, a gain medium (51) between the mirrors and a phase plate (27) between the mirrors for tuning the modes of the resonator.

Fink does not disclose placing the discontinuous phase element adjacent the output coupler.

Casperson illustrates different shapes of phase plates and discloses how these phase plates change the phase, amplitude in a beam and improve the far-field beam-intensity profiles.

Therefore, the "person having ordinary skill" in this art has the capability of understanding the scientific and engineering principles applicable to the claimed invention. The evidence of record including the reference and /or the admissions are considered to reasonably reflect this level of skill. Thereby, the placement of the phase plate in the resonator would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art because it would provide a change in phase, amplitude and improve the far-field beam-intensity profiles.
